Background information

My name is Giovanni Barranco and I am 28 years old. I am currently enrolled in a full-stack developer course through UCSD Extension in where I am learning HTML, CSS and Javascript as part of the front-end curriculum. I will be transitioning to node.js, mysql and other programs as part of the back-end curriculum. This is an interactive course in where the instructor and classmates are there to learn collaboratively while at the same time complete individual assignments to further understand the topics.
